Imperial Awarded Best Clinical Trial Support Company

GRAND RAPIDS, Michigan, July 18, 2024—Imperial Clinical Research Services has been awarded the Best Clinical Trial Support Company – 2024 - Midwest USA by the Global Health & Pharma (GHP) Global Excellence Awards. This recognition reflects our commitment to providing best-in-class clinical trial support with services provided by our dedicated team of experts.

These services include reliable, cost-conscious ancillary trial supplies and equipment procurement and management, customized premium print and digital production, award-winning creative design and writing of study and site materials, translation services for 100+ languages, targeted patient engagement programs, along with warehousing, and associated global logistics to more than 100 countries.

GHP's Global Excellence Awards celebrate and highlight the innovative companies, teams and individuals who are excelling across the vast landscape encompassing healthcare, life science and pharmaceutical sectors. Imperial is featured in Global Health & Pharma's magazine. The article can be viewed here.

"The Imperial team is honored by this recognition," said Ted Corrigan, Imperial vice president of operations. "We are happy to see Global Health & Pharma acknowledge the quality of research support services Imperial provides, as well as the core values and culture that differentiates us. Imperial's company 'why' is to positively impact lives, and we carry out this mission by supporting the clinical trial industry in traditional as well as innovative ways."

GHP selects those setting the highest standards, making pioneering breakthroughs and creating the most cutting-edge medical solutions to showcase outstanding medical, health and pharmaceutical business leaders and companies from across the globe.
